

Nello Cristianini
University of Bristol

Title: Looking for Memes in Media Content

Abstract: The contents of the media sphere present various patterns that are of interest to social scientists. The extraction of this information by computational methods leads to large scale pattern-analysis questions. We will discuss efficient methods to detect surprising surprising memes in a textual data stream.